Artemide Look At Me LED Pendant Light

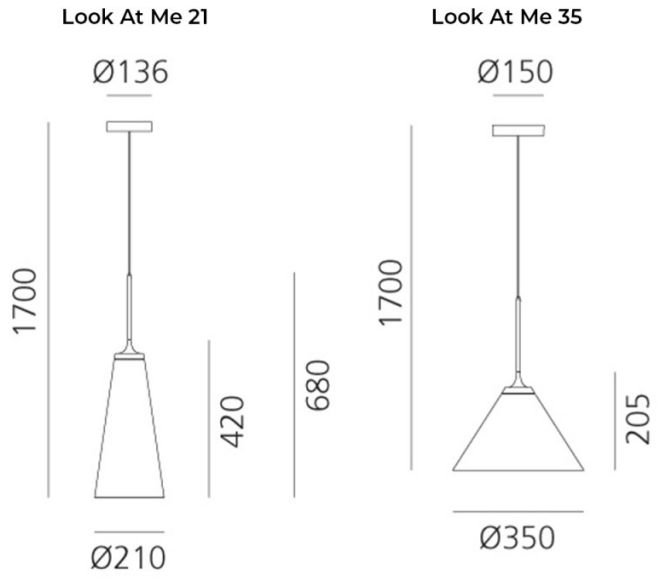

Artemide Look At Me LED Pendant Light is formed from a suspension with a conical shade, with two lenses placed at either end of the diffuser to guarantee maximum efficiency and luminous comfort. Designed by Alida Catella and Silvio De Ponte, it has a clear, defined form in a black finish.

The LED source sits inside the cone, and the beam drawn by the primary lens falls exactly onto the surface of the lower lens, which opens the emission. Light is not diffused through the black cone. Instead, it is cut to catch the stepped profile, bringing lines of light across the dark volume and giving the fitting a more graphic character, with a 3000K warm white output.

Artemide Look At Me LED Pendant Light is available in the Look at Me 21 and Look at Me 35 versions, both with push dimming and integrated LED. Best suited for dining tables, kitchen islands, breakfast bars, and other interior surfaces where controlled downward light is needed with a stronger visual presence.
