Flos Fucsia Pendant Light

The Flos Fucsia Pendant Light was designed by Achille Castiglioni & Pier Giacomo Castiglioni. This luminaire consists of an industrial yet chic glass diffuser that provides direct light onto the surface below whilst also allowing some illumination to escape through its silhouette. The result is a functional and even glow that adds a peaceful ambience no matter where it is displayed.

Available as a single pendant, Fucsia can also be displayed in multiples, either way providing a subtle, understated and sophisticated aesthetic perfect for a multitude of environments such as over a dining table, as a central light source in a living area or even suspended as a bedside light. The conical glass shade is hand-blown and has a sandblasted semi-opaque 1.5" edge and a translucent, opaline silicone ring.

See the other variations of the Fucsia Collection, providing replacement glass shades and Flos bulbs.
