Foscarini Tite Pendant Light by Foscarini

The Tite pendant light was created from a collaboration between Marc Sadler and Foscarini, which first started with the release of the Foscarini Mite Floor Lamp. For this light the brand and designer have developed a patent that mixes carbon thread and fibreglass, which acts as both a structural and decorative element.

The Tite pendant is characterised by its beautiful, streamlined design, starting with a narrow part at the top which opens out at the bottom. The pendant light comes in 2 versions, the longer Tite 1 and the shorter Tite 2 so you can find the best aesthetic and functionality for your space. The pendant emits a downward-directed light, perfect for illuminating the room and for hanging over tables and surfaces for a spotlight. Use alone or in multiple compositions to make the most of your setting, using a stylish design to add a modernistic touch.
