Artemide Cosmic Angel Suspension

The Artemide Cosmic Angel Suspension is an organic and futuristic design by Ross Lovegrove, who commented that the application "gives a natural flow on the sculptural surface of the light, as if it is suspended by anti-gravity in the air". The Cosmic Angel has the organic shape that Lovegrove is known for; he often draws inspiration from the logic and beauty found in nature. The suspended luminaire is crafted from a thermoplastic material, adding to its weightlessness, while the structure is illuminated from below thanks to the low-hanging light sources that reflect back into the room.

Emitting an indirect light, the Cosmic Angel suspension becomes an elegant presence in any room. The textured form adds depth to your space and ensures the light fitting immediately grabs your attention. The Artemide Cosmic Angel LED Suspension is a contemporary addition to numerous interiors, including kitchens and dining areas. It can also be utilised in commercial spaces, especially in hotels, restaurants and bars.
