Radon Table Lamp by Fritz Hansen

The Radon table lamp was designed by Hans Sandgren Jakobsen in 2010 and is a lovely light characterised by its geometric shapes and lines. The shade has a dome shape and is supported by triangular legs that are eye-catching and provide firm stability. The lampshade of the table lamp can be angled and moved so you can direct the light where you need.

Perfect as a reading or task light, the Radon table light is great for desks and side tables in offices, bedrooms and lounges. The design is stylish and will look good in contemporary and modern settings both at home and in professional interiors. Available in 2 colours so you can find the right finish to match your interior design. Match with others from the Fritz Hansen Radon collection to create a seamless lighting scheme.
