The Biagio table lamp from Flos is a classic piece of 1960s design, courtesy of Tobia Scarpa. Exquisitely carved from one single piece of Carrara marble, this lighting solution boasts an eye-catching shape and features a curved spine that directs the illumination towards the surface below, providing a soft lighting output.

The designer, Tobia Scarpa, famously worked with his wife Afra to design iconic Italian lighting and furniture products. Their philosophy was simple but ambitious: to use the most modern manufacturing techniques to create items that would harmonise with traditional interiors while making conventional designs even more functional. Over 50 years later, the Flos Biagio Table Lamp remains a design classic while elegantly fitting into contemporary interiors.
